“iATN members strive for professionalism, integrity and competence. By collectively servicing this many vehicles on an annual basis, members clearly have a tremendous ability to positively shape the customer’s repair experience and strengthen the image of today’s technicians,” said Brent Black, iATN founder and president. “In addition, so much of what’s learned during the diagnosis and repair of these vehicles is then shared on iATN, making the network a gold mine of information and knowledge for technicians,” added Black.
